REFERENCE FOR NEIL BURKE JOINERY

Neil Burke Joinery has worked with Philip Hooper, Design Director at Sibyl Colefax & John Fowler, on a range of bespoke projects since 2001.

Neil Burke and his team first worked with Mr Hooper on an Art Gallery in Mayfair, and have since gone on to work on jobs with Colefax & Fowler in both high-end commercial and domestic situations. Projects have included a restaurant in St James, Barristers' Chambers in Temple and Residential Projects in Central London, the Isle of Man and the Chilterns.

The company offers a service to provide shop drawings, enabling careful consideration of all aspects of commissioned joinery prior to work commencing and once work is underway the workshop will remain in close contact, providing samples of specific finishes and details as required.

Neil Burke Joinery has a deserved reputation for a high standard of service and deliverance. They never fail to deliver on time and are able to process orders efficiently and effectively. Their work on site has always been undertaken with care and without fuss and the company has a polite and professional staff that ensure that the end product is of a quality we would expect.

They come highly recommended by Sibyl Colefax & John Fowler and any further query for information about them is welcome.

Yours sincerely

Philip Hooper
